

CROWN CAREER RESOURCES

“Career and educational resources designed to help people discover how God has uniquely gifted them for work and life”

Career Direct® Guidance System. Career Direct® is a complete guidance system to assist those making career or educational decisions at various stages in life. ♦ Adults/Occupational—for those seeking career direction or confirmation that they are in the right career, feeling that a career change may be needed, or are entering or reentering the work force. ♦ Students/Educational—for high school juniors/seniors who are making postsecondary educational decisions and college freshmen/sophomores deciding on a major course of study. Both options are included in the repackaged format introduced in 2003. The assessment instrument profiles personality, interests, skills, and work priorities and instantly generates over 30 pages of individualized reports. Also included electronically on the CD-ROM are a career matching feature, an “Action Plan, a “Job Sampler,” and the electronic book, Guide to College Majors.

The package also includes the softcover resource book, The PathFinder, and a series of audio messages to aid in occupational and educational decision making. (Available in paper, CD-ROM, and soon-to-be-released online formats!)

The Career Direct CD-ROM guidance system listed above is also available in an Institutional version at a significantly reduced cost per person. It is specifically tailored for Christian high schools and colleges, home schools, churches, career counseling practices, adult career counselors and coaches, ministries, and similar organizations with 30 or more users. It includes the complete guidance system package with 365 consecutive days of unlimited assessments on a single computer installation. Multi-computer installation packages are also available for computer labs and similar uses. For more information, please call 1-800-822-1943.

Career Direct—YES!® (Youth) Guidance System. The Career Direct—Youth Exploration Survey is for teens 13 to 16 years old. It helps young people identify their unique, God-given design and understand how their talents fit into career fields. Included is an exciting and engaging guidebook with self-scoring assessments that measure personality style, interests, abilities, and priorities. YES! teaches students a biblically based process for making decisions about their current activities and relationships, as well as future careers. The entire program integrates biblical principles of work and stewardship of talents in an innovative format that engages and informs the student. The YES! packet includes a Passport that guides them through their results and encourages them to set goals for the future. Also included is a Parents' Guide to involve them in the process. A YES! Leaders' Guide is also available. (Available in paper format only.)

Team Personality I.D. is a relationship-building tool for teams in any setting by using a unique, enhanced DISC-based personality assessment. This assessment is useful, informative, and fun for all types of groups up to six persons including families, church boards, small group studies, college dorm groups, and pastoral counseling of couples and groups. Use the results to enhance relationships and generate acceptance, agreement, and cooperation within the team. The program produces detailed individual, two-person comparison, and team reports.

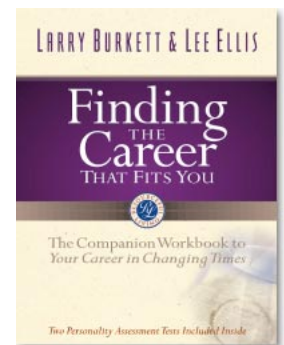

(Available in CD-ROM format only.)

Guide to College Majors and Career Choices is a reference book for those contemplating higher education. It offers principles for making sound career decisions and evaluating schools, how to choose a college major, tips on the college admissions process, how to stay on schedule in applying for college, and how to find a job while you're in school. It also cross-references academic majors to more than 700 related occupations. (Ellis/McNeilly, 195 pages, softcover)

The PathFinder is an excellent resource book for anyone making career decisions. It provides a biblical perspective on work and focuses on practical steps for evaluating occupational areas, searching for a job, writing a résumé, and interviewing for a job. A special questionnaire will help you accurately assess your current situation before you select a future career field. (Ellis, 124 pages, softcover)

Finding the Career That Fits You workbook is a low-cost option for career assessment. This companion workbook to Your Career in Changing Times includes the Personality I.D., as well as surveys for examining skills and work priorities. It is totally self-scoring and enables a person to work through the self-assessment process to gain a clear understanding of talents and job search strategy. This workbook is suitable for individual or group use. Available in paper only. A soon-to-be-released Leaders' Guide will be an excellent resource for conducting small group studies or large seminars. (Ellis/Burkett, 122 pages, softcover)

ABOUT CROWN CAREER RESOURCES

Crown Career Resources is the career guidance outreach of Crown Financial Ministries of Gainesville, Georgia. Since 1976, under the leadership of Larry Burkett, Crown (formerly Christian Financial Concepts) has focused its ministry on teaching biblical principles of handling money. Crown Career Resources expands Crown's emphasis on stewardship to include stewardship of our other talents, i.e., our unique gifts, abilities, and personal style of work.

Crown Career Resources seeks to help individuals discover their talents and career direction by teaching biblical principles of stewardship for career and life planning and by providing practical assistance through guidance materials.
