

FUNERAL CONSUMER SOCIETIES

Funeral consumer societies are set up as nonprofit organizations to help reduce the cost of burial. The cost of joining varies. Their efforts are coordinated through local funeral homes and may offer substantial savings.

In the larger metropolitan areas or state capitals, you will find your local funeral consumer society listed in the white pages of the telephone directory. If you do not have a local listing, you may contact the Funeral Consumers Alliance to determine if there is a funeral consumer society in your area. Call one of their toll-free numbers or visit their Web site.
